LOEW PLANS HUGE THEATER IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—There is an adage that says "He's about the busiest man in seven States," but in the case of Marcus Loew it must be changed to say the forty-eight States, or the United States.

From all sides there are rumors about the many theaters Mr. Loew is building, or has in operation, but the most important one recently has been the one about the property on Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth streets and Broadway. Mr. Loew is the purchaser of that property, the famous so-called "Hidden Property," for $2,250,000, on which he is going to build "the home" of the world-reaching Marcus Loew enterprises.

He is going to build a sixteen-story office building, part of which will house his various offices and a vaudeville and motion picture theater, the very finest and largest in the world, said to surpass even his Metropolitan, in Brooklyn, than which at the present time there is no finer. Operations will begin at once on this property, and before the end of 1920 Marcus Loew will be housed in his own office building, and Broadway will be proud of another million-dollar theater. This will mean an investment of $5,000,000.

Within the past few weeks Marcus Loew has purchased an opened three n theaters in Cleveland, Ohio; another is to open next Monday; one is to open in Detroit; one in Dayton, and he will also add Paterson to his roster Monday.

At this time, in addition to the thirty-five theaters in New York city and the ten in Brooklyn, Mr. Loew owns and operates theaters, both high class motion picture and vaudeville theaters, in Boston (four), Phila River, Providence, Springfield, Hoboken, New Rochelle, Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Ont., Cleveland (five), Washington, D. C. (two), Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis (two), New Orleans, Kansas City (two), St. Louis, Detroit (one), Dayton, Baltimore, Paterson, Pittsburgh and Toledo.

Mr. Loew's list of theaters is constantly growing, and his great pride lies in the fact that all of the majority of his theaters are family theaters, where the entire family comes to spend a afternoon or evening, and where a clean and wholesome show is the steadfast rule.

GIRLS OF SUMMER CAMP GIVEN DANCE LAST NIGHT

A dance for girls who were members of the summer camp of the National Training School, on Conduit road at the District line, was held last night at the Food Administration Club, 1715 I street, Northwest. More than 100 couples were present.

Among guests of honor were Miss Elizabeth Poe, commander-in-chief of the camp; Miss Frances Moore, social secretary of the War Risk Bureau, and staff aides of Miss Poe at the camp.

WASHINGTON SUFFRAGIST SPEAKS TO VIRGINIA SENATE

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 30.—Miss Antoinette Funk, of Washington, and Miss Adele Clark, of Richmond, appeared before the State senate today to answer anti-suffrage claims made before that body by Miss Charlotte E. Rova, national field secretary of the Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

"You are fifty years late," said Miss Clark, "in coming down here and arguing for State rights. That issue was fought out half a century ago."

MRS. ORME GIVES PICNIC TO DAY NURSERY CHILDREN

SHIP BOARD GIRLS TO ORGANIZE UNION

Protest Long Working Hours. Plan to Affiliate With A. F. of L.

Alleging they have been subject to imposition of long working hours, employees of the Steamship Bureau of the Shipping Board, it is reported, are taking steps to organize a union to be affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Girls in the bureau, a labor organizer reported, have been forced to work 8, 9, and 10 hours a day, and that as a protest against such conditions they threaten to walk out. The climax of the attitude of the employees of the bureau toward such conditions was reached Thursday, it was said, when one of the employees, who refused to go on an assignment, was forced to resign. The young woman went to the chief of the bureau yesterday, according to other employees, accompanied by two of her brothers and a friend, and forced the chief of the bureau to apologize for his alleged conduct. It was said that after he had apologized the men accompanying the young woman attacked him.

N. Y. BUENOS AIRES SERVICE IN 90 DAYS

Chairman Payne, of the Shipping Board, announces the Government will inaugurate passenger service between New York and Buenos Aires within ninety days.

The former German steamer Prinz Joachim, now called the Mocasin, is being refitted for the service. It is a combination cargo and passenger vessel of 5,000 tons, burning oil and having a speed of twelve knots. Payne said other former German vessels will be put into South American trade later as need develops. This is the first step in the Government's policy of developing South American commerce.

Later Payne said other ships will be put into trade with the Orient.

CAVELL BETRAYER ACCUSES PRINCESS

PARIS, Aug. 30.—M. D'Armon, counsel for George Gaston Quien on trial here for exposing Edith Cavell, British war nurse to the German authorities in Belgium, sprung a surprise in his attempts to shift the blame from his client. D'Armon requested that the Princess of Croy be recalled to the stand and read a telegram to the Prince of Croy in the United States requesting information concerning the road maps drawn by Philip Baucq, Belgian architect, for use of persons trying to escape from Belgium, which Mme. Bodet gave Quien for delivery to Mme. Machiel. D'Armon also demanded that the Belgian authorities be requested to give full information regarding the circumstances under which a Belgian named Louis Brill shot a certain Neels de Roodt in Brussels in 1916, as the denouncer of Miss Cavell.

SOCIALISTS MEET IN CHICAGO.
CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Delegates to the national socialist convention which opens today, are arriving in Chicago together with a large number of communists or left-wing socialists who will open a convention here Monday. The Socialists will urge many Governmental changes through use of the ballot while it is expected that delegates to the communist convention will favor more drastic action.

"WIDOW-MAKER" MISSES FILM STAR

The filming of motion picture episodes is a business always fraught with danger, but Wallace Reid, the star of "The Valley of the Giants," discovered a brand new peril during the making of this Paramount-Artcraft masterpiece, which will inaugurate the new 1919-20 season at Loew's Palace Theater tomorrow.

The newest movie danger is due to what lumber men call "widow-makers," and it is a danger that constantly lurks in the great sequoia groves of California. Wallace Reid was telling some friends about it.

"We started from camp on the morning after our arrival at Eureka," said Reid, "to begin filming scenes for 'The Valley of the Giants.' We penetrated the redwood country for a considerable distance, and Mr. Urson adjusted the camera preparatory to 'shooting.' Suddenly there was a terrific crash about five yards from where I was standing and the air was filled with splinters as when the wind blows. Redwood is so brittle that the slightest wind will cause the swaying branches to break off from their trunks."
